

A A L A S

61st

National Meeting

October 10–14, 2010

Atlanta, Georgia

www.transtechsociety.org

International Society for Transgenic Technologies

The ISTT hosted a booth at the 61st annual AALAS (American Association for Laboratory Animal Science) meeting held from 10/10/10-10/14/10 in Atlanta Georgia, USA. Over 4000 people attended the meeting, and most spent time in the vendor area where the ISTT had its booth. The attendees are mainly composed of veterinarians and animal care technicians, with a few of us transgenic people sprinkled in. Although our booth was in one of the quieter sections of the vendor area, we talked with quite a number of people who were interested in the ISTT. We obtained contact information for 38 attendees, of which fourteen showed interest in membership, three were interested in becoming sponsors for upcoming TT meetings, and another 2 who were interested in attending the TT2011 meeting. The candy and pens being handed out were always welcome, but what was most encouraging was that we nearly ran out of flyers on ISTT membership benefits. Thanks are in order for those ISTT members at the meeting who helped out with manning the booth: Nancy Hitt, Fernando Benavides, Barbara Stone and Chip Hawkins. Their help was :MOST appreciated.

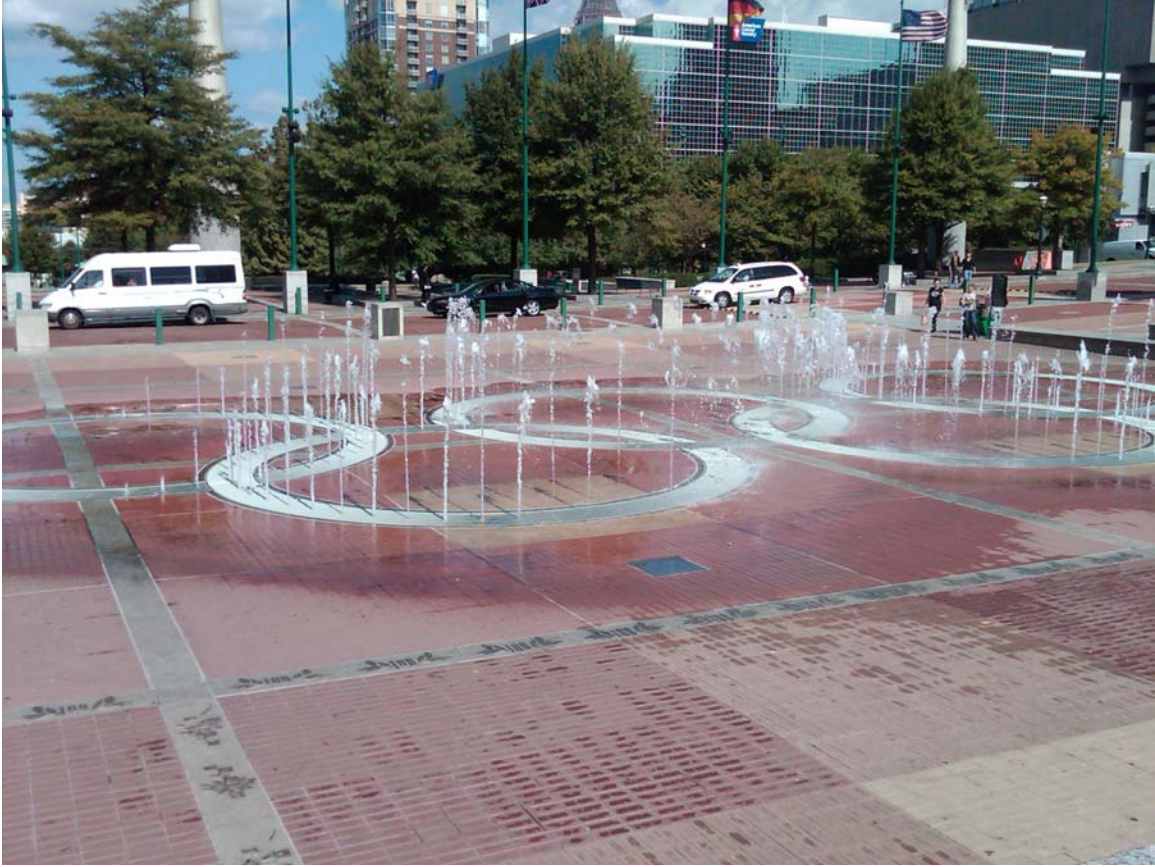

Submitted 10/18/10, Jan Parker-Thornburg

Part of the Atlanta Skyline near the Conference Center

Chip Hawkins helped to man the ISTT booth.

The fountain of the rings in Olympic park.